PLEASE LORD, HELP ME GET ONE MORE

I was watching the news this morning and they did a piece on a Tennessean businessman who became a philanthropist after he was hit by lightning, set on fire, died, and was resuscitated by a friend's 14-year-old son. Whew... that's a lot to take in. Anyway, he recounts the story of his near-death experience. He said that experience instilled in him a deep desire to give to others. His wish is to help, "just one more." Well, that got my attention

The 2016 Oscar-winning movie, Hacksaw Ridge, is the true story of Desmond Doss, a conscientious objector, who nevertheless enlisted in the US Army during World War II. As a devout Seventh Day Adventist, he was a pacifist. During bootcamp, most of his troop thought he was a coward because he refused to carry a weapon. After bootcamp, he trained to be a combat medic. During his service, he never took up a gun. The movie portrays his actions during one battle. Here's what was written in his Citation for the Medal of Honor. "He was a company aid man when the 1st Battalion assaulted a jagged escarpment 400 feet high. As our troops gained the summit, a heavy concentration of artillery, mortar and machinegun fire crashed into them, inflicting approximately 75 casualties and driving the others back. Private First Class Doss refused to seek cover and remained in the fire-swept area with the many stricken, carrying them one by one to the edge of the escarpment and there lowering them on a rope-supported litter down the face of a cliff to friendly hands."

Doss says that he prayed for one thing after every rescue that night, "Please Lord, help me to get one more." He saved 75 American lives (and sent several Japanese soldiers down that rope as well). He "got one more" until there were no more to save, and all without a gun and without regard for his own safety. He trusted that God was with him, and that God would give him the strength to save those soldiers

I know I don't have that kind of courage, faith, and trust in God, but wouldn't it be amazing if we did? To be in a moment where we know what we should do, and we do it because we believe that God will give us the strength. We trust that all will be well no matter what happens. Maybe we start by just giving God the small battles we face. Give him the messiness, the perplexities, the failures, the challenges and ask him to help us face one more, knowing that he will be with us and give us the strength to continue ... little by little.

Epilogue: I could not end this without acknowledging the impact of war. In this moment when war seems to be everywhere, remember that violence is never the answer and that we are called to reconcile and not divide; to be peacemakers and pray for our enemies. Knowing deep in our hearts that we are all brothers and sisters, pray we all find our way to our common Father.

POR FAVOR SEÑOR, AYÚDAME A CONSEGUIR UNO MÁS

Estaba viendo las noticias esta mañana e hicieron un reportaje sobre un hombre de negocios de Tennessee que se convirtió en filántropo después de ser alcanzado por un rayo, incendiarse, morir y ser resucitado por el hijo de 14 años de un amigo. Uf... es mucho para asimilar. De todos modos, cuenta la historia de su experiencia cercana a la muerte. Dice que esa experiencia le inculcó un profundo deseo de dar a los demás. Su deseo es ayudar, "sólo a uno más". Bueno, eso llamó mi atención.

La película ganadora de un Oscar en 2016, Hacksaw Ridge, es la historia real de Desmond Doss, un objetor de conciencia que, a pesar de todo, se alistó en el ejército estadounidense durante la Segunda Guerra Mundial. Como devoto adventista del Séptimo Día, era pacifista. Durante el campamento militar, la mayoría de su tropa pensó que era un cobarde porque se negaba a llevar armas. Tras el campamento, se formó como médico de combate. Durante su servicio, nunca cogió un arma. La película retrata sus acciones durante una batalla. Esto es lo que se escribió en su mención para la Medalla de Honor. "Era ayudante de compañía cuando el 1er Batallón asaltó una escarpa escarpada de 400 pies de altura.

Cuando nuestras tropas alcanzaron la cima, una fuerte concentración de fuego de artillería, morteros y ametralladoras se abatió sobre ellas, causando aproximadamente 75 bajas y haciendo retroceder a las demás. El soldado de primera clase Doss se negó a buscar cobertura y permaneció en la zona barrida por el fuego con los numerosos heridos, llevándolos uno a uno hasta el borde de la escarpa y allí bajándolos en una litera sostenida por una cuerda por la cara de un acantilado hasta manos amigas".

Doss dice que aquella noche rezaba por una cosa después de cada rescate: "Por favor, Señor, ayúdame a conseguir uno más". Salvó 75 vidas estadounidenses (y envió a varios japoneses soldados por esa cuerda también). Fue "a por uno más" hasta que no hubo más que salvar, y todo ello sin un arma y sin tener en cuenta su propia seguridad. Confiaba en que Dios estaba con él, y que Dios le daría la fuerza para salvar a esos soldados.

Sé que yo no tengo esa clase de valor, fe y confianza en Dios, pero ¿no sería increíble que nosotros la tuviéramos? Estar en un momento en el que sabemos lo que debemos hacer, y lo hacemos porque creemos que Dios nos dará la fuerza. Confiamos en que todo irá bien pase lo que pase. A lo mejor empezamos dándole a Dios las pequeñas batallas a las que nos enfrentamos. Entregarle el desorden, las perplejidades, los fracasos, los desafíos y pedirle que nos ayude a afrontar uno más, sabiendo que Él estará con nosotros y nos dará la fuerza para continuar... poco a poco.
